

Rep. Tom Emmer on House Leadership Press Conference

Press Conference

Broadcast: February 03, 2026 • Location: Washington D.C. • Duration: 1:55

REP. TOM EMMER:

Once again, Republicans are making clear that we are the party of responsible governance, while Hakeem Jeffries foolishly urges his members to hold the American people hostage for the second time in less than six months.

REP. TOM EMMER:

House Republicans are preparing to vote, as we've already done, to fund the government within individual appropriations bills. We passed these bills once before, and we will pass them again. As promised, Republicans in the House have reclaimed the power of the purse. Eleven of twelve America First spending bills have passed through both the House and Senate, and now we're gonna finish the job. That's what governing actually looks like. The American people deserve a functioning government, and House Republicans will deliver.

REP. TOM EMMER:

Just like the Democratic government shutdown in October, Hakeem Jeffries and far-left Democrats want a political show. What's their angle this time? Obstructing President Trump's successful law and order agenda.

REP. TOM EMMER:

Thankfully, Republicans started ahead. In response to the devastating Biden border crisis, we proactively funded Immigration and Customs Enforcement operations for the next four years in the one big beautiful bill. The Democrats' attempts to stifle immigration enforcement and protect dangerous criminals—especially in my state—will prove to do nothing more than hurt law-abiding Americans and their party. Actually, notice, and we hope they will do the right thing.

REP. TOM EMMER:

But even if it's not, law and order and responsible governance will prevail, thanks to Republican leadership and despite obstruction.
