

Rep. Tom Emmer on Majority Whip Tom Emmer at Leadership Stakeout

Broadcast: September 10, 2024 • Duration: 2:11

*REP. TOM EMMER:

 Yesterday, Hakeem Jeffries sent his Democrat colleagues a letter urging them to reject our government funding plan, which includes the SAVE Act, claiming that House Democrats quote have consistently put people over politics. Today I would like to correct the record. The House Democrats have consistently put illegal immigrants over law abiding American citizens. In July, House Republicans passed the SAVE Act, a common sense bill that requires proof of citizenship for voter registration and removes non-citizens from voter rolls. That should already be happening. Meanwhile, 198 House Democrats voted in favor of illegal immigrants over ensuring safe and secure elections all over this country. The Harris Biden administration even issued a veto threat claiming this legislation is unnecessary. If that's true, why are they so afraid of making the SAVE Act law? You can't have it both ways. Why are they calling a common sense bill like the SAVE Act a quote poison pill? The American people aren't fools. They can read between the lines. It's all part of the Democrat Party's grand design. Over the past three and a half years, Border Czar Kamala Harris let over 10 million illegal immigrants into our country. And now Democrats would rather shut the government down than stop them from voting in federal elections. By the way, there is evidence out there that shows non-citizens have made their way onto voter rolls. Plus, we should keep in mind this is about the American people and 87% of American citizens agree that proof of citizenship should be a requirement before registering to vote. House Democrats call preventing illegals from voting in our elections quote partisan and extreme. House Republicans and the American people call it common sense. And with that, I turn it over to Speaker Mike Johnson.
