**REP. TOM EMMER:

** Mr. Speaker, I rise today to wish the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation a very happy 100th birthday. For a hundred years, the Minnesota Farm Bureau has been an ally and advocate for growers, ranchers and producers across the 87 counties in Minnesota. Even after a century of work, the Minnesota Farm Bureau remains the leading voice for farmers, their families and the agriculture community at large. I want to give a special thanks to Minnesota Farm Bureau President Kevin Papp and Vice President Dan Glessing, both of whom go above and beyond to advocate for their members. I would also like to recognize Amber Hanson-Glazer, the Bureau's Director of Public Policy, who always keeps our office apprised of the challenges facing our agricultural families and their community. It's been an honor to work with everyone at Minnesota Farm Bureau throughout my time in Congress, and I am grateful for the opportunity to wish you all a happy 100th birthday. Note: This appears to be a congressional floor speech rather than an interview, as evidenced by the formal address to "Mr. Speaker."
