**REP. TOM EMMER:

** I think our conference chair led off with this, promises made and promises kept. That has been the theme since President Trump's triumphant return to the White House on Monday. I mean, in one day, President Trump did more for the American people than Joe Biden did in four years. Some of us would argue more than he did for the American public in 50 years. From shutting down the woke DEI bureaucracy that poisoned every aspect of the last administration to ending the CBP one-app scam that helped facilitate the worst border invasion our country has ever seen, to rolling back policies that crippled America's energy dominance and our national security in the process, and so much more. One thing is clear, the golden age of America is upon us, and President Trump will stop at nothing to reverse the damage done by the failed Biden-Harris administration, nor should he. That's exactly what he campaigned on, and 77 million Americans gave him an overwhelming mandate to put America first. House Republicans are united and ready to work with the greatest president of our lifetimes and our Republican colleagues in the Senate to get the job done. Failure is not an option, and we're excited by the historic opportunity in front of us to make America great again. With that, I turn it over to our Majority Leader, Steve Scalise.
