Broadcast: October 07, 2026 • Duration: 13:55

GUY BENSON:

joining us now to discuss this is the republican majority whip in the house of representatives tom emmer of minnesota congressman welcome back to the show

REP. TOM EMMER:

it'll be with you guys

GUY BENSON:

alright so just talk about this disconnect if you what where a lot of your colleagues on the other side of the aisle the people who run the state from the governor on down they will look at minnesotans dead in the eye and say this is false or exaggerated and fear-mongering based on bigotry and then you juxtapose it with the scenes out of that suburban homecoming game on friday feels awfully real

REP. TOM EMMER:

yeah well that guy this is real and i'd say it was contained within the city of minneapolis by in and in some uh... isolated suburban k including one that i represent up in central minnesota but it's spreading now it's spreading quickly because they will not acknowledge who is doing this and what they're up to god bless bob fletcher he's the first law enforcement officer that i have seen that is that has the courage to come out and call it what it is and yes in minnesota what these uh... a they're not even liberals anymore they're marxist what they will do right away is no turn on you know say we are racist you take people of uh... of a different color and it's like no what we are there's nothing racist about calling out criminal conduct this is about the safety and security of everybody in minnesota and where they're really causing problems with our kids in schools guy you're just hearing about the shootings you heard about the one at the uh... even prairie homecoming game last friday night all the week before the uh... the church uh... in the diner minnesota our lady grace they shot up the parking lot uh... weeks before that they shot up a nearby park at their they're having these gunfights at driving down the road uh... in in police officers i've been told over the last couple of days because i thought that was one thing uh... that you want to talk about uh... you're starting to get people that are getting hurt uh... with this stuff it why they tell you you played that clip from mary morey arty the hennepin county attorney this gal she withheld exculpatory evidence from the court when she was prosecuting a minnesota state trooper she lied to the court about the evidence uh... that would be dismiss him because she'd rather protect criminals then go after him and i've i've been in touch with the fbi and others uh... we've been talking about this for over a year

GUY BENSON:

well hang on she won't just protect the criminals in the somali gangsters pretending like they're a figment of everyone's imagination is hardcore gaslighting she will do so while persecuting with i think this horrible conduct

REP. TOM EMMER:

exactly you get it right on that is the nail on the head this is who she is but it's not just her it's ken walls if keith ellison remember the feeding our future scandal that's ninety some people who were indicted stealing what two hundred fifty million dollars uh... in guess what eighty six of them were from the somali community by the way i was told yesterday and i'm following up to find out if it's true they're continuing to pay and no government official has been held accountable maybe not on that program but another programs where they have this fraud going on and it's always about donald trump it's not about their behavior guy this is about the safety and security of minnesotans and their kids

GUY BENSON:

there is a sound bite that i want to follow up with here from the local a bc affiliate two of them back-to-back one that is again law enforcement describing the scope of this problem cut twenty three the police chief in bloomington says that they'll catch the shooters who fire more than a hundred rounds in a neighborhood not too far from city hall here tuesday morning but he says that when you say somali-american gangs you're talking about something that very different from what most people think of the word gang this is what woke minnesotans living in one bloomington neighborhood early tuesday morning more than a hundred shots fired one person injured the suspects investigators say they're not your traditional gangsters shakopee we got gangsters in shakopee we got gangsters named after burnsville the bloomington police chief says today's somali-american gangs don't have a single leader with a dedicated hierarchy making it harder to find individual suspects and then there's a detail in this next clip that really stood out to me i wonder if you'll notice the same thing congressman cut twenty four they're not organized they argue they're on the social media and then we're out uh... dealing with it on the streets right these law enforcement officers add trying to get at the root cause of the gang formation and behavior in an effort to prevent the violence isn't as easy this time around they're coming from two parent homes living in apartment buildings with thirty five hundred dollar a month rent driving beamers and mercedes they're not dealing with uh... money there's no drugs in the house they're purchasing legal firearms congressman many of these gangsters apparently living in luxury apartments driving luxury cars given what you just talked about with fraud i can only imagine that the lifestyle the very nice cushy comfortable lifestyle of at least some of these gangsters have been subsidized and provided to them by the taxpayers of your state

REP. TOM EMMER:

no question guide by the way these are not gangsters i agree with the uh... person i said uh... the somali gangs are much different from gangs as we've understood it these are enemy combatants they have brought the war torn streets of their country to minnesota and other places this is this is what you're dealing with and nonsense that you can't track them down you can track them down but you have to have the will to do something about in the problem we're having right now if the local authorities need to be willing to do the work on the ground and then the fbi can come in and remove them but guess what because of what can walk it down because what keith ellison is done because of what uh... what job i incompetent unqualified prosecutors like mary or even and mary marie morey parity have done just state they don't want to help they don't want to do that job because they're not going to get backed up guy and guess what the people who suffer by the people of the community the same ones they're being built by the somali fraudsters by the same ones they're getting caught in the crossfire of the somali gangsters

GUY BENSON:

but will anything change politically in terms of the leadership of minnesota congressman tom emmer the house majority whip our guest on the guidance and show let's tackle that coming up with house majority whip tom emmer a republican from minnesota we're talking about the fraud plus the somali gangs and congressman this is the question i keep coming back to you i don't live in minnesota i've been there a handful of times i know that it is a frustrating state for republicans where often you guys will come close to statewide office and fall just short at the presidential level at the senate level that sort of thing uh... for multiple election cycles where it's just almost within reach politically and then not quite there i know this is shaping up to be a blue year in many ways you might disagree but that that's at least what the polling suggests for now is there any possibility even in this national environment that there are enough minnesotans who look at this fact patterns say okay we had a homecoming football game ruined by somali gangsters and a shooting there which then had this affect that just wiped out an entire homecoming tradition for this very nice sort of tony suburban community and the types of gangsters that we're talking about in many cases are actually quite rich because at least some of them have lined their pockets with taxpayer money that's been stolen systematically for years to the tune of nine billion dollars the overall fraud number that was given by federal prosecutors earlier in the year i mean i'd just can't imagine how that confluence of facts cannot be a breaking point even for a lot of people who don't traditionally vote for republicans because this is all being enabled and coddled by the party that runs your state

REP. TOM EMMER:

i would say this to you uh... guy first off we have eighty seven counties when tim walz was re-elected four years ago he only won thirteen of them the thirteen metro counties if you look at the rest of the state uh... it is red it voted for trump so the idea that it's a uh... blue state it's got a blue pocket in the uh... thirteen county metro and this is the most disturbing fact that is not all liberal whack job lefties there's a healthy number of people like me that live in that thirteen county metro the problem is they don't engage minnesota's are very local right uh... so they don't engage until after labor day a lot of these folks are independent lean right lean left but they're in the center and it's uh... we've done a very poor job of making making it clear our media is horrible guy our media literally you just said the nine billion number that was given by the u.s. attorney's office we've got local media going in confronting state legislators and uh... republican candidates with where is the nine billion show us all the money and of course it's like you don't have to look very hard to find almost a half a billion in fraud in medicaid housing you don't have to look very far to find fraud in autism centers uh... in leering centers and the list goes on but it's almost as though the media doesn't want to expose who is responsible and how much they've actually done to us and as a result people uh... it just uh... don't they are aware of this time with shootings in places like eden prairie you've had shootings in uh... the other side of the city in those suburbs uh... with this starting to happen and come right to your neighborhood i think uh... this could actually motivate people the waste fraud abuse minnesota's different from other states out there right now that is the number one issue in minnesota and this one that we're gonna keep calling attention to it because this is going to be an issue in uh... twenty seven days

GUY BENSON:

do you think that lisa dame s or michelle to foil or one of the other have real viable opportunities to win

REP. TOM EMMER:

i actually do and it's a and because here's the issue uh... amy amy klobuchar has an excellent brand if you will in minnesota uh... not too hot not too cold uh... it but kind of a local kid but the problem she's got is what is going to change under democrat authority nothing and i think she's not talking about the somali gang violence value so at least a day with is a and unique candidate that we have not had in minnesota before if our people turn out i think she's going to be extremely competitive and she has a chance to win michelle to foil i think michelle to foil absolutely can win she's running against peggy flanagan who's been tim walz lieutenant governor as they oversaw this broad uh... blossom in the last uh... seven-and-a-half years and by the way you can go find a picture of her dancing around wearing a head job about a year ago uh... in that with her friend

from the somali community uh... of i'm told twenty years who was indicted ultimately in the feeding our future scandal so these people are in it up to their eyeballs that that's waste fraud and abuse and because of that i think uh... michelle to foil has a in incredible chance to win that u s senate race

GUY BENSON:

and the way that at least some democrats are framing this up as we mentioned earlier in this is an explicit it and this is an explicit example from keith ellison who's the attorney general who seems to be a at least a bit worried about his prospects for reelection he was just recently at an event where was telling the audience this is a battle between good people and bigots and if the good people turn out the democrats win and if not it's because of the racism cut forty three now is the base of people who believe in freedom and justice compassion and mercy the people with the people who believe in the quality of human beings in the dignity of all human beings will we show up in both or will the bigots in the races show up in both you know what i'm saying so i know what he's saying what do you make of that congressman

REP. TOM EMMER:

well i i i i believe in all of that uh... compassion in mercy in the equality of human beings but i also believe in holding uh... human beings accountable human beings like uh... keith ellison who literally is on tape uh... assuring somali fraudsters that he will help block or uh... frustrate investigations into their behavior within a week of when the somali fraudsters gave him a five figure campaign check this guy's a crook this guy uh... he stinks to high heaven and and for him to pull that card that's the only thing he knows that's what he's been doing since he started his political career he doesn't have much going when it comes to his intellectual capacity but he's got a lot going when you question him because he turns around he goes well you're just uh... racist well but we're done with that in in my uh... my world right now the people i'm hearing from it ain't about race this is about fairness honesty and holding people accountable who are ripping off minnesotans every day and that includes keith ellison by the way he should be concerned ron shoots in every poll i've seen so far is his republican challenger is leading keith ellison and rightly so people have seen enough of this crook

GUY BENSON:

yeah and i don't think screaming racism should ever be sufficient but especially when we're talking about industrial scale fraud fraud tourism coming to your state and then third world gang action in the suburbs of minneapolis that is a very ugly combination and yet that's today's minnesota under democratic rule house majority whip tom emmer of minnesota republican our guest on the guy benson show congressman thank you

REP. TOM EMMER:

thank you guys

GUY BENSON:

we'll be right back with more
