CHARLIE:

So with that, let's bring in House Majority Whip and Minnesota Congressman Tom Emmer. So Congressman, thank you for joining us this morning. You know, I want to, you know, I want to talk about how much bigger this problem is. But before we get to that, I think it's really important to focus on just what we know in this $90 million fraud scheme, the largest Medicaid fraud scheme ever uncovered in history. This is a really big deal for you, your constituents.

REP. TOM EMMER:

It is. It's not just a big deal, Charlie, for my constituents. It's a big deal for American taxpayers. Donald Trump has said that there is going, he's going to clean up the waste, fraud and abuse. And he wasn't kidding. He's assigned Vice President Vance to lead this crusade against the fraudsters. And unfortunately, the state of Minnesota happens to be the poster child of some of these abuses. You've already got the $250 million Feeding Our Futures scandal, which was not Medicaid money. Now you've got $90 million in just this one piece, Charlie. This is money, by the way, that was supposed to go, as you pointed out, to autistic children who needed it, to the disabled who needed it, to the elderly who needed it. Instead, it went to 15 different fraudsters, and it's only $90 million. People have said, in authority in Minnesota, that the fraud under the Walls administration will take your breath away. It could be as high as $9 billion. This is just the tip of the iceberg, I'm afraid, Charlie.

CHARLIE:

Yeah. And I'm so glad you point out the people who this money was designed for who are neglected. So you know, it's easy to talk about things like this and talk about, oh, it's a victimless crime. It's not a victimless crime. There are people we are told needed this money. We have these services provided for them, but somebody stole them from those people. The other thing, and you just mentioned this a second ago, the number of Democrat politicians in your state who have already been connected to alleged fraudsters who are pulling some of this off, it's kind of shocking to see some of these connections to people like Tim Waltz, Ilhan Omar, and Keith Ellison, for example.

REP. TOM EMMER:

Yeah. You know what I mean, Charlie? When you don't hold people accountable, and we have a completely absent press in Minnesota. Thank God that the national press, and I would give President Trump credit for making this a national story. Thank God you're on it because nobody's been covering this for the last eight years in Minnesota and his has run rampant. Ilhan Omar is at the center of the Feeding Our Future scandal. She not only was the sponsor of the bill that created the fund that they ripped off, these are her neighbors. These are the people she represents, and by the way, the people that she was in communication with. You know that Amy Bach, the head of the Feeding Our Future scandal, was sentenced to 41 years yesterday. She has said that Ilhan Omar was aware, and then you look at Keith Ellison. This guy was literally working with Somali fraudsters to frustrate investigations in return for campaign donation. It's been shown, Charlie. Tim

Walz, you can't tell us that he did not know what was going on right under his nose for seven and a half years. I'll tell you what my constituents are asking every day, Charlie. When are these people going to be held accountable? When is somebody going to go to jail for ripping everybody off? And I know that you'll stay on top of it.

CHARLIE:

Fox & Friends has reached out to Governor Walz's office for a statement, and we have not yet heard back. Tom Emmer, thank you so much for joining us.

REP. TOM EMMER:

Thank you, Charlie.
