SEAN HANNITY:

bring in now Congressman Tom Emmer of Minnesota. He is the House Whip, House Majority Whip. Good to see you sir and thank you so much for coming on. Whip Emmer, talk to me about this. It was a statement that you made earlier that I just wanted to read back to you if I can. You said this quote, if these two guys are dirty they should be held accountable and they should serve jail time. Do you still feel that way?

REP. TOM EMMER:

I absolutely do Sean and it's good to be with you. It's interesting, yesterday they didn't want to answer my questions especially Keith Ellison and I understand why because after having a chance to address them both yesterday and get their testimony, if you will, on the record in front of the public, a bombshell report was released by the House Oversight Committee where they're conducting interviews of whistleblowers in Minnesota. One of them was the Assistant Commissioner of Education, the Department of Education in Minnesota, who contrary to what Tim Walls and Keith Ellison are saying, claims that they were notified of the fraud and the suspicious activity as early as April 2020, Sean. I want you to think about this for a second because Keith Ellison, this looks really bad for him, there is a 54-minute audio tape of Keith Ellison meeting with the Somali fraudsters that were involved in the Feeding Our Future scandal, the 250 million dollar fraud scheme, largest pandemic fraud scheme in the country. He met with them in December of 2021 and he tried to tell me yesterday that he didn't know anything about what was going on with the FBI because a month later the FBI issued subpoenas, they had been working with the Department of Education on investigating this fraud. Instead in that tape where he claims he knew nothing about the fraud, Keith Ellison assured the Somali fraudsters that he would block any attempt to scrutinize them, to scrutinize the programs that they were running and again he not only made that commitment in that December 2021 meeting but he clearly knew about the fraud a year and a half earlier, Sean, and then he took campaign contributions within a week or two of the meeting in December 2021. Yeah, if this is continuing to be confirmed by people that are speaking under oath, these guys and in particular Keith Ellison, he should be disbarred immediately and he should go to jail.

SEAN HANNITY:

Let me play this from Congresswoman Nancy Mace because I know you talked about contributions, math getting involved, she was questioning Minnesota Governor Tim Walz and even did some quote Minnesota math, if you will. Watch this. So we're gonna do some Minnesota math with you today, okay? Are you ready? How much money was spent on 2017 for autism in Minnesota? How much?

REP. NANCY MACE:

I don't know, I wasn't the governor. Okay, did you not just say that you prepared for this hearing today? One million dollars, okay? A quick Google search or using your AI could tell you one million dollars was spent. How much money was spent on autism in Minnesota in 2024?

GOV. TIM WALZ:

I don't have a number in front of me.

REP. NANCY MACE:

Were you governor in 2024?

GOV. TIM WALZ:

I was.

REP. NANCY MACE:

And you still said you prepared for this hearing today. It's unbelievable. 343 million dollars was spent in 2024.

SEAN HANNITY:

Whip, is that acceptable? The lack of response from the governor, the lack of knowledge?

REP. TOM EMMER:

Oh, I think not only is it not acceptable, that's a rhetorical question, I think it is indicative of a guy who knows that he's caught. They are trying to obfuscate, they're trying to run out the clock on this thing. It's not going to work. The fraud, they knew about it. They actually, according to whistleblowers, they actually ignored whistleblowers and more importantly, they retaliated against them. The assistant commissioner of education under oath told the oversight committee that Keith Ellison in particular threatened them with being racists, being Islamophobes, xenophobes, and literally threatened them so that they would not investigate these people. Again, long before he had the infamous 54 minute recorded meeting with them where he said that he would take care of this, that he would make sure that he called these people and held them accountable so that they wouldn't do an investigation. And just to that question that Nancy Mace asked, Sean, I mean, the Somali community, allegedly children in the Somali community are four times more likely to be autistic than the general population. That just doesn't make any sense, nor do the numbers that she read going from 1 million to many millions. And it's just another scam. There's 80 autism centers under investigation in Minnesota. And that's just one of the many fraud scams that were going on.

SEAN HANNITY:

I use the term low-level lightly, but the low-level offenders of fraud in Minnesota, there have been some that have been charged and convicted, but I'm very curious your thoughts. Is there enough at least at this point that you've seen that there should be criminal referrals for Governor Walz and or Attorney General Keith Ellison?

REP. TOM EMMER:

I think they still have some work to do. I mean, the former assistant U.S. attorney, a guy by the name of Joe Thompson, is the one that actually came out a few months ago and said the fraud could actually total $9 billion. So far, they've identified about $1 billion. My question for former U.S. attorney Joe Thompson is, if you thought there was $9 billion, you've got evidence of $9 billion in fraud in Minnesota, why were you only prosecuted the $250 million Feeding Our Future fraud case? And by the way, if you look at that case, Sean, he indicted 96 people. 85 of them were from the Somali community. He convicted 60 of them. You know what was missing? Not one public official has been implicated or held accountable. I think there's more work to be done. This is not just about Tim Walz and Keith Ellison, although that is the head of the snake, and I believe that it ultimately gets to that level based on the information we have so far. But there's still work to be done with these people. You got $9 billion going out of your administration in a seven-year period, Sean. Somebody knew about it, and very likely people were complicit.

SEAN HANNITY:

A point taken. I have to wrap it up, but I just wanted to ask you, I know you're going to, you will be or are in the process of whipping up votes today for the War Powers resolution. We saw that fail in the Senate. Can you just briefly describe what you're seeing so far, maybe what you're expecting with this vote, House vote today?

REP. TOM EMMER:

Yeah, I expect Republicans to stand with Donald Trump. The president made a call. It's a very narrow, very specific mission, and that is to knock out the chief sponsor of terror's ability to go on offense against the United States of America. And it's very clear that what he's doing is working. This has been a problem that has festered under other presidents, Republican and Democrat, for the last 40 years. This president said enough. I'm not going to allow them to have a nuclear weapon that they can attack the United States of America with. And I think the whole world is grateful for this. Hopefully our soldiers and their families will be safe. Tragically, we've lost some already. Those are the people we should be thinking about as we vote this resolution down and allow the president to finish what we started.

SEAN HANNITY:

House Majority Whip Tom Emmer, joining me now. Great to see you, Whip. We do appreciate it.

REP. TOM EMMER:

Thanks, Sean. You got it.
