

Rep. Tom Emmer on Varney and Co

Broadcast: 2026-03-27 • Duration: 4:44

*HOST (STUART):

 House Majority Whip Tom Emmer joins me now. Congressman, TSA will get paid. Does that mean the airport problem will disappear rapidly?

*REP. TOM EMMER:

 Well, Stuart, great to be with you, but that remains to be seen. When you say quickly, it's what is your definition of quickly? I think the most important thing to recognize is that these poor people, they're the agency, Homeland Security, because these radical left-wing anarchist Democrats literally has been shut down for almost half the fiscal year, Stuart. These people haven't been getting paid for almost half the fiscal year. So we've lost TSA agents. This is affecting TSA. It's affecting the Border Patrol. It's affecting the Immigration and Customs Enforcement. It's affecting the Coast Guard. It's much bigger than TSA. But yes, the lines have been awful, and hopefully that will dissipate quickly.

*STUART:

 Congressman, earlier this morning, Congressman Byron Donalds, a Republican from Florida, whom I'm sure you know well, he told us he was a no vote in the House today. Are you?

*REP. TOM EMMER:

 Well, actually, I'll start out with our speaker is very unhappy. I'm not happy. Our whole leadership group, what the Senate did was frankly not right. We are going to make sure that border is funded. This is about making sure that President Trump's number one promise was that the border was going to be secure. He's accomplished with Republican leadership incredible things with the southern border. It has never been as tight as it is right now. But we are not going to allow these radical, anarchist, Marxist, socialist Democrats to literally stop or create an open border situation again, like we experienced under Joe Biden and Kamala Harris. And we're going to make sure that we continue to deport criminal, illegal aliens. This is what Americans want.

*STUART:

 If there is a no vote in the House today, does that mean that the Senate has to come back to do it all over again?

*REP. TOM EMMER:

 The House will have a solution. That's as much as I can tell you. There'll be more on that very shortly. I think the leadership team with the speaker has been working through this again. They did this at three in the morning, Stuart. Instead of doing it in the light of day, when all of America can watch what's going on, they did this procedural move early in the morning. And by the way, it sets dangerous precedents going forward. If you could take appropriations bills and start to take out pieces that you don't like, this will never end. So we're working through it in the House. We will have a solution, and the speaker will announce it, hopefully within the next hour or so.

*STUART:

 I'd like to hear it. Vice President Vance holds the White House's first anti-fraud task force meeting today. Could you give us an update on the fraud scandal in your state, Minnesota?

*REP. TOM EMMER:

 First off, God bless President Trump and J.D. Vance. I can't tell you how happy I am that J.D. Vance has been appointed the man to handle this fraud issue all across the country, but especially in my state. J.D.'s got a great presence to him, and he's got a great approach. The other piece of this that predated the announcement of his leading this fraud task force was the fact that our president unleashed ten of his cabinet members on Minnesota. I mean, the Department of Housing, Scott Turner, found incredible fraud in the Department of Housing. You've already heard about the Somali daycare fraud, the Somali Medicaid fraud, the Somali it just goes on and on. Where is it at? It is right at the forefront, and Democrats are not talking about it in Minnesota. They don't want to address it. We are going to stay hot on it, because you're talking about as much as $9 billion that has gone out right from underneath Tim Walz's nose and Keith Ellison's nose. It looks like somebody may be complicit in this. You can't have that much money walking out of an administration without somebody knowing and somebody participating. And as you know, Stuart, there is a 54-minute audio tape where the Somali fraudsters involved in the largest pandemic fraud case in the country, the $250 million Feeding Our Future scandal have Keith Ellison on tape telling them, our Attorney General telling them he's here to help. And you know, if he was truly obstructing the investigation and trying to make sure these people got paid illicitly, and then that money, a lot of it, went right out of this country and presumably to al-Shabaab terrorists, this is a big, big deal in Minnesota. And again, I got to thank our President for actually leading this charge, and it's great to have J.D. Vance in charge of the fraud investigation. The truth will out.

*STUART:

 Congressman Emma, thanks very much for being with us. I appreciate it.
